

Recommendations for the Academic Scope of the society:

The society aims to foster research in the development and application of luminescence and ESR techniques for geochronology and other related areas of research, including:

- 1) fundamental methodology and physical mechanism research;
- 2) technique and equipment development;
- 3) applied dating and retrospective dosimetry research across geological, archaeological, palaeoanthropological, palaeontological and palaeoenvironmental contexts;
- 4) related approaches to enhance/improve the understanding of Earth surface processes and events